A Partnership of Teachers and Mathematicians Committed to Increasing Student Achievement

Focus on Mathematics (FoM) is directed by Glenn Stevens, Professor of Mathematics at BU, and Wayne Harvey, Director of the Division of Mathematics Learning and Teaching at EDC. There's also a decision-making body comprised of representatives from the partner organizations: BU; EDC; the Massachusetts school districts of Arlington, Chelsea, Lawrence, Waltham, and Watertown; Lesley University; UMASS Lowell; and Worcester Polytechnic Institute.

FoM is building a community of mathematicians, teachers, and educators, all working together to help our students and teachers understand mathematics in ways that are faithful to the ways in which professional mathematicians and scientists think about the discipline.

This poster display is a summary of the professional development activities that are underway and of the mathematical culture that we are building.
